ARCHIVE TO SQL SERVER

Policy Patrol archives messages into Microsoft SQL server when they are sent and received. If the SQL server is down, Policy Patrol will temporarily save the messages until they can be written to the archive. If you prefer not to invest in SQL Server, you can also use SQL Server Express or MSDE at no additional cost.

ADDITIONAL BACKUP

Policy Patrol Archiver can be used as an additional backup method; if disaster strikes, your last Exchange backup tape is not likely to be any more recent than yesterday's emails. However, with archiving enabled, Policy Patrol will provide you with a backup of all emails sent and received right up until the last minute. In this way you will never have to lose a single email again. Policy Patrol also allows users to retrieve messages that were deleted by mistake.

RETRIEVE & RESTORE EMAILS

Users can easily retrieve and restore their own emails by using the Email Restore client that adds into Microsoft Outlook. Users can search for words in the body and subject, email addresses and attachment names. Advanced searches can be made using the Boolean strings AND, OR, AND NOT.

Administrators can search, retrieve and restore messages via the Administration console. You can also configure the program to automatically purge emails older than x number of days, months or years from the database.

SAVE STORAGE SPACE

Since Policy Patrol archives your messages, the product enables you to move messages out of Exchange and allow users to retrieve specific messages from the Policy Patrol archive. In this way, Exchange stores will remain smaller and recovery times are kept to a minimum.

USER LICENSING

Policy Patrol Archiver licensing is not based on users. Therefore you do not need to select the users to be licensed and you can simply purchase an unlimited users version.

USER SECURITY

Using Windows security, users will only be able to retrieve messages with their own email address as the recipient or sender.
